"Time is out of joint," said Hamlet to his father's ghost.

In these difficult times I have great confidence in my family and friends' ability to weather these challenges, but maybe I'm naif. Noho\m55 gallery may need our special support.

I continue to make paintings with fluorescent illumination with my husband and family's help. A new development in my painting career is a large studio at Bowery and Broome. Sometimes I share it with a couple nice characters.

There are stories behind the painting The Blue Shield and I can tell them to those interested.
